The Commissary was built in 1944 on the southeast corner of A Street and 2nd Street. A long, narrow rectangular, one-story building facing A Street, it was built by L.F. Dow Construction Co. from plan WB 8-2 at a cost of $4,085.25. The 2,731-square-foot building was of "Mobilization," "Semi-Permanent" type construction, and was used by the military and civilian employees whose numbers had so greatly increased since 1942.

Measuring 25 feet-6 inches by 108 feet-6 inches, the Commissary has a concrete foundation and floor, wood frame walls with asbestos shingle siding, and asphalt roll roofing on gabled roofs. The building is equipped with a restroom.

The exterior has been neglected and is losing its roofing and siding. The doors and square, small-paned windows are intact, however, and the building appears to be in sound structural condition.
